1972 Outlook

With a solid nucleus returning from last year's club and several blue-chip newcomers on the squad, Maryland's soccer team is looking for a highly successful campaign in 1972.

The 1971 team (7-4-1) won the Atlantic Coast Conference and received a bid to the National Collegiate Athletic Association tournament and the '72 Terrapins will be aiming just as high.

Maryland should be strong on both offense and defense as three double letter winners return on the front line and two at fullback.

Juniors Tom Armenti and Pete Hamilton should give coach Doyle Royal a solid and experienced back line. Both are dependable players who can be counted on to make the big play. Hamilton, the faster of the two, is expected to be one of the top defenders in the country. With the addition of Turkish All-Star player Ercument Berilgen the Terrapins should have an even better defense than last year's.

Three of the four forward positions appear to be set. Outside left Mike Wilson gives Maryland one of the finest charging linemen in the South, and Pat Cunningham has a good shot and great ball sense. In the center will probably be All-South selection George Taratsides. A tremendous player with great quickness and a tremendous shot, he led Maryland in scoring in 1971 with 12 goals and two assists and is considered a good bet for All-American honors this season.

The only question about this threesome on the line is whether Taratsides may return to the goal where he was a starter as a freshman two years ago and extremely outstanding in that position.

The only major question remaining is halfback where Royal will have to count on veteran Mike Sidlak and junior college All-American Kasim Gungor to provide the leadership.

The best bets to fill out the forward line will come from a plethora of promising newcomers including Pete Steese, Farzin Azarpur, Dave Chesler, Joseph Horan and Bill Rush.

Three more newcomers; Richard Batterton, Gary Blaise and Bohdan Puzyk; are expected to join the fight for starting fullback spots.

The schedule which Maryland faces is demanding indeed. The Terrapins start with road contests against N.C. State and Catholic but then must face probably the toughest four game stretch in the country this year meeting Virginia away, Penn State, Howard away and Navy. Three of the last four games are against ACC rivals North Carolina, Duke and Clemson.

The season's aims are twofold; retaining the ACC title which Maryland reclaimed after two years during the 1971 season, and winning the Washington area championship. Of course the latter goal would mean a good shot at the national title because one of Maryland's area rivals is defending NCAA champion Howard.

Despite the presence of some inexperienced players at some key positions, Maryland appears to have the overall talent to make a run at achieving their goals.

COACH ROYAL

Doyle Royal

DOYLE ROYAL is entering his 27th season as head soccer coach at the University of Maryland. He started soccer on a varsity level in 1946 after returning from the war. Since that time his teams have compiled a record of 204 wins, 50 defeats, and 15 ties. In addition he has coached Maryland's tennis team for 27 years to a 246-90-4 record.

He was graduated from Roosevelt High School in Washington, D.C. and came to College Park as an undergraduate in 1939 with aid to play tennis. That same year he was on the Junior Davis Cup team. At Roosevelt he won letters in four sports and captained the basketball and tennis teams. He won three tennis letters and one soccer monogram at Maryland.

He began playing soccer while in the fourth grade and by age 15 was playing in the Washington Unlimited Soccer League. He was the youngest ever to play in that league. Royal continued to play amateur unlimited ball until 1941 when he played inside right on the Maryland team which went undefeated. He received his diploma in 1942 and went off to war.

During the war he took part in the invasion of France, earned a Silver Star for Valor, a Purple Heart, and three campaign ribbons. He retired from the Army Reserve following the summer of 1968 as a Lt. Colonel.

Royal married the former Loraine Bishop of Asheville, N.C. They have one girl, Lisa, 16, and one boy, Derry, 13.

1971 in Review

Last year was a year of ups and downs for Maryland's soccer team.

Fielding a lineup which wasn't set until the opening game, Maryland was expected to suffer from the lack of time playing as a unit. Their strength was supposed to be at mid-field where the Terps had two returning All-Americans in Melih Sensoy and Nick Skirka.

As it turned out, inconsistency at midfield was one of the principal problems faced by coach Doyle Royal. The attack, led by All-South selection George Taratsides and Mike Wilson, gave the Terrapins a potent scoring threat and the excellent goal work of John Parella (18 saves) and Tarik Ayasun (17 saves) led Maryland to a strong defensive showing.

As the season progressed, errors of omission in the penalty area on defense and a lack of a fast break threat against the clogging defenses thrown at the Terrapins, resulted in below-scoring losses to national powers Navy (2-3), Howard (0-2) and West Virginia (0-1); a tie against Penn State (3-3 in overtime); and Maryland's only ACC loss to Virginia (1-2). The aggregate score in those five games was only 6-11 but the result was an 0-4-1 mark.

Although the four losses and a tie were disappointing to the team which was shooting for a high finish in the NCAA tourney, several objectives were reached.

For the first time in three years, the Atlantic Coast Conference championship returned to College Park. For 16 Consecutive years the Terrapins had ruled their conference compiling a staggering 63-1-2 record, but in 1969-70 the University of Virginia had topped the Maryland eleven.

Last year the Terrapins returned to the top compiling a 4-1 mark and allowing only four goals in five conference games while scoring 12.

The second goal reached was a berth in the NCAA tournament. Maryland was selected to participate for the fifth consecutive year but lost the 1-0 heartbreaker to West Virginia at Roanoke, Va.

It was a year of ups and downs, of close agonizing losses and satisfying victories, but at the end, Maryland had gained back the ACC Championship and retained its 26th consecutive winning season.

Maryland's 1972

All-Star Candidates

Although Maryland's principal strength in 1972 will be overall talent, Doyle Royal points to three members of last years' team whom he considers strong candidates for year end honors. Two of these, George Taratsides and Mike Wilson, should combine to give the Terrapins a devastating attack in '72.

Taratsides was an All-South selection as a sophomore last season after starting in the goal in 1970. This versatility is common for Taratsides. He is truly a player about whom it can be said, "He can do it all." He led the 1971 team in scoring with 12 goals and two assists and should do even better this year if he remains at the forward position.

Taratsides has the speed and quickness to play forward or keeper but combines them with the stamina and drive to play the midfield. He probably did the best job on last year's squad at playing both ends of the field.

Wilson is the ideal wing. Small in stature at 5-6, 155 he has the quickness and daring to take advantage of any lapse by the opposition's defense. An excellent dribbler who led the team in assists with six in 1971, he is described by Royal as perhaps the best charging wing in the South and an excellent bet for All-Sectional honors.

Fullback Pete Hamilton is the third All-Star candidate. Small for a fullback at 5-9, 150, his lack of size is more than made up for by ability and verve. Possessed of a sure foot and superb tackling ability, he is especially skillful at making the clearing pass which enables the Terrapins to convert quickly from defense to offense. Coach Royal states that Hamilton is the best fullback in the conference and another possibility for All-Sectional honors.
